

Who we are.

Oral BioTech was founded with the purpose of providing the dental profession with a complete solution to treating dental caries as a bacterial infection.

In recent years, scientists and other dental professionals began to realize that it was a bacterial infection in the biofilm on the teeth that was causing tooth decay, leading to cavitations. However, they had no easy real-time test for the infection and treatment programs had limited effectiveness.

A group of dentists, university professors, and other professionals formed Oral BioTech to create products that could make it easy for dentists to test for this bacterial infection and be able to prescribe highly effective treatment programs.
